

School Council - Autumn term report from Willington

The children who were elected by their classmates to represent them in school council are very proud and honoured to have been chosen. They began the term by discussing what the job of school council is and what their visions for the year are.

School council created posters to spread the plans for Children In Need day and collected the money from this event. They are also working on plans to raise money for the NSPCC.

The members of the Council are very keen to take into consideration the ideas and opinions of all their classmates so they have established a students' suggestion box so that all ideas can be considered. Children are encouraged to write notes with their ideas or concerns on. They are also always welcome to speak to any of the school council members during the day. These notes or ideas will then be addressed at school council meetings.

School Council's final job of the term was the ever-popular task of distributing the Christmas cards from the communal post box. They are looking forward to being active in the school community once again in the new year.
